TOMBSTONES IN NEW HAVEN,

ERECTED PRIOR TO 1800.

From the settlement of the town, in 1638, the central upper part of the present City Green was used as the common place of burial: the latest interment being (it is believed) that of Mrs. Martha Whittelsey, who was buried by the side of her husband, the Rev. Chauncey Whittelsey, in October, 1812. In 1797 the Grove Street Cemetery began to be used, the first interment being that of Mrs. Martha Townsend.

In 1813 the present Center Church was placed on the Green, over the tombstones of about one hundred and forty persons, whose names are engraved on tablets in the vestibule. Between 1795 and 1821 most of the monuments on the Green were removed to the Grove Street Cemetery, where they now are, some of them in private lots, and the remainder (about four hundred and seventy) ranged in approximately alphabetical order against the west and north walls of the enclosure. The oldest stone thus removed, which is now legible, is that erected in memory of Samuel Hodshon (or Hudson), who died August 26, 1673, being No. 402 in the following list: the only stone older than this, remaining in its original location on the Green, is that inscribed E. W., and numbered 926 in the following enumeration.

These pages include copies of all the legible inscriptions prior to 1800, now to be found in the Grove Street Cemetery, in the crypt under the Center Church, and on the neighboring Green. For the sake of easy reference the inscriptions from the crypt are printed in heavier type.

The arrangement of the names is alphabetical, with the partial exception that parents and minor children are grouped together under the father's name. Prefixed to each inscription is an indication [within brackets] of the location of the original stone. The annotations are numbered according to the inscriptions to which they refer.

The editor's task has been essentially lightened by the permission to make use of a careful and elegant transcript of the epitaphs in the Center Church crypt, made two years ago by Mr. Henry Trowbridge, Jr.

FRANKLIN B. DEXTER.

In him a strong sense of filial duty prevailed over an early ambition and confined to a silent and retired life of husbandry, talents and integrity rarely surpassed in the more public walks of men. A natural liberality of sentiment early religious impressions, an uncommon faith matured by much reflection, formed his life to honesty and usefulness, and secured to himself an unusual cheerfulness and serenity, to the close of an advanced age.

Here is interr'd the body of
MISS MARIA PLATT BROOME daughter to

Samuel Broome Esq of this city
who departed this life
February the 28th 1794
aged 21 years
and 3 months.

Swept with a hasty torrent hence
Like a vain dream we pass
Spring up and grow and wither soon
as doth the short lived grass
Alas its gone and quickly too
when Blasting winds blow o'er
And then the place in which it grew
Shall never know it more.

Come resignation, wipe the falling that deepest sorrow drops o'er [tear
[virtue's bier
Bid selfish sorrow hush the fond [complaint
Nor from the God she loved detain [the saint
In death this last, best lesson still [impart
And write 'prepare to die' on [every heart.

This Monument erected to the memory of M<sup>rs</sup> MARY CLAP

(relict of the late Rev'd President CLAP) who died 23<sup>d</sup> Sept 1769 In the 66th year of her Age, bears testimony that neither an agreeable person, good sense, delicacy of manner, a virtuous discharge of the duties of the endearing relations of Wife, Parent, Friend, fervent piety towards God, nor extensive charity to man, can secure from the arrests of Death; but the same stone that tells this truth declares man Immortal. Happy O reader! if by following the faith and patience of her who's remains ly here, you build on that precious corner stone laid in Zion, which proclaims the resurrection of the Body, and the soul's reunion with it: for if you so do you shall, after your body is thus laid in the dust, be raised, by the power of him who is the resurrection and the life to a blessed Immortality

The resemblance of the "M" in the inscription to a reversed "W" has led to a conjecture that the regicide William Goffe lies buried here.

<sup>926</sup> Probably in memory of Edward Wigglesworth, one of the original settlers in 1638, who d. Oct. 1, 1653, aged 49, leaving wid. Esther. There are two stones (headstone and footstone) with identical inscriptions, though on one the date has been altered to 16578; probably the last figure was in both inscriptions originally "3." The doubtful date is perhaps owing to a tradition that the regicide Edward Whalley was buried here; it is, however, now known that he died in Hadley, Mass., in 1674 or 5.
